

NOFFKE HOMES IS CONTINUING BUSINESS, BUT NOT AS USUAL

We understand how scary it can be during these uncertain times. As the news and impact of COVID – 19 continues to rapidly evolve, Noffke Homes will continue to adapt and adjust appropriately.

The Pierce County Development Center announced it has temporarily reduced its lobby services but will continue to process permits, review applications and record documents through its online services. The Pierce County Development Center website states, “Pierce County is committed to the timely review of applications. Our staff are continuing to review applications and respond to your questions.”

Noffke Homes is determined to continue building quality homes with integrity for all families. Our team is working diligently to ensure we uphold deadlines to our customers, lenders, and stakeholders through our proactive measures to condense timelines, keep open communication, continue production and putting safety first.

In an effort to follow the public health agencies and governmental authorities’ recommendations the Real Estate team has made recommendations to minimize exposure while keeping business moving forward. Clients are encouraged to utilize:

- Electronic signature platforms for signing paperwork.
- Electronic deposits for earnest money, similar to mobile depositing a check with your phone.
- FedEx documents, when appropriate.
- Phone and email for communication.

We are working directly to stay in constant contact with our partners and will do our part to communicate changes as they arise.
